

MEXICO ASKS FOR FACTORY AID HERE

UNTIL such a time as Mexico is able to rehabilitate itself in an industrial way and after that time, for that matter, it is proposed by commercial interests of that country that El Paso act as a manufacturing and distributing headquarters for that republic.

The proposal was made during the visit of the distinguished Mexican here last week, after the main social features of the visit were over. The plan of the officials and big business men of Mexico is broad in its scope and touches most remarkably with ideas that have been discussed for some time on this side of the line.

Want Better Sanitation. To begin with, one of the first things the forward-looking people of Mexico desire is a better sanitary system in the republic. That means calling on American engineers for assistance. It means sewer systems, garbage collection, incinerators, river drainage and dredging and open plumbing in the larger centers.

The second thing Mexico will want is a better transportation system. This means general reconstruction of roads; new steel rails, new ties, new locomotives and new rolling stock all around. These improvements, it is realized, will have to come gradually.

Then, gradually, Mexican mines are to be reopened and new mines started. These are to be cut for lumber, agriculture, paper and fuel. New farming methods are to be introduced which will include farming of fertile regions with tractors and irrigation of arid regions.

In the interim schools are to be built everywhere. Paraleling practical men say these things will require at least 25 years even to get going to say nothing of completing.

Meanwhile, Mexico looks to El Paso as the gateway to prosperity.

Specifically, it is proposed that factories be built in El Paso with either Mexican capital, American capital, or possibly still better, with both. These factories to receive raw materials from Mexico and turn out finished products. These products are to be manufactured either on a commission basis, on consignment, or as the result of direct purchases. Yet, if she will the factories the raw materials will take back finished products in payment, or other finished products made from raw materials from our own country. Until a finished credit system is arranged the trade between countries will be largely of the nature of barter, the user border chamber of commerce possibly keeping the accounts.

Proposed by Mr. Rodriguez.

David Rodriguez, chief of the extension bureau of the Mexican department of commerce who was in El Paso with Gen. Obregon, made the specific proposal. He said that Mexico had been shipping much of her raw materials to eastern American ports or through Gulf port points in Europe. But she is willing to reduce freight rates between El Paso and Mexican interior points if El Paso will consider her proposals.

Then, gradually, Mexican mines are to be reopened and new mines started. These are to be cut for lumber, agriculture, paper and fuel. New farming methods are to be introduced which will include farming of fertile regions with tractors and irrigation of arid regions.

PLAN PROMPT ACTION FOR WATER POWER

Immediate action in the matter of securing power and water for El Paso was urged at a meeting of the board of directors of the Young Men's business league Monday. Steps to coordinate the efforts of the various organizations in the city which have taken the matter up, and the immediate employment of high class engineering advice were urged and a committee headed by A. W. Norcor, president of the league, was appointed to confer with president C. N. Haslam of the chamber of commerce and mayor Charles Davis with a view to securing prompt action along these lines.

It was suggested that an engineer employed by an association formed for the purpose of securing water and power for the city, and that the city and public subscription, might be in a better position to make his report untrammeled by parties or politics, and a report made by such a man might safely be regarded as final by all parties, and action be taken accordingly.

The directors discussed the financing of a central park to be used as an exposition ground, and also the matter of railway grade crossings in the city.

The nature of the subject of railway grade crossings will be discussed at the next general meeting of the Young Men's business league, when an action on this subject will be secured.

a bonus, and only to teachers employed during 1919-20. The bonus, he said, would be to supplement the salaries given them then, and which were considerably less than those fixed under the new scale inaugurated at the beginning of the present term.

Mr. Ward asserted that he would be opposed to any increase, and would vote against including teachers employed for the first time this year in the distribution.

At the present time, 285 teachers are engaged in various schools of the city. All are teaching under contracts in which the compensation is fixed.

PROSECUTOR OF COAL MEN RESIGNS POST

Indianapolis, Ind., Oct. 12.—Dan W. Simms, special assistant attorney general in the case pending against coal operators and officials of the United Mine Workers of America, indicted under the Lever act last winter, has resigned. It became known here today.

Mr. Simms, while admitting that he had sent his resignation to attorney general Palmer at Washington, declined to discuss the case when seen at his home in Lafayette, Ind. It is understood, however, that Mr. Simms' resignation was due to a disagreement with the attorney general over procedure and evidence to be used in the coal cases.

It is understood that Mr. Simms received a letter from Mr. Palmer a few days ago placing certain restrictions on the evidence to be used in the coal cases and that Mr. Simms' resignation followed clearly upon the receipt of this letter. Just what the restrictions in the letter were is not known and Mr. Simms declined to discuss the case, at least until action has been taken on his resignation.

CHIEF ORDERS SODA WATER BOTTLES SEIZED AT BRIDGE

All soda water bottles, full or empty, belonging to local bottlers, have been ordered seized by the Santa Fe street bridge should anyone attempt to take them to Mexico. The order was issued by chief of police J. H. Montgomery, Monday afternoon.

In the bottling business in Mexico, and a decided shortage in bottles, has been causing the people to buy soda water here and then to ship the bottles into Mexico.

GRAIN DEALERS ASSOCIATION WOULD POPULARIZE FARMING

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 12.—A campaign to combat unrest and discontent among farming elements of the country was being put under way today by the Grain Dealers' National association, through its legislative committee. The association is in annual convention here.

Steps to instill in the people a realization of some of the advantages of farming and farm life and to dignify the farming business by a fair recognition of its importance were outlined in a report of the committee as remedies to cure unrest on the farm.

The report accorded efforts of radical farmer organizations to control prices by creating cooperative associations, which, the report said, were seeking to disregard the laws of world supply and demand.
